OilQuickUSA partnering with Volvo Construction Equipment and Services to provide automatic quick couplers.

OilQuickUSA, Superior, WI, the United States distributor of the OilQuick Automatic Quick Coupler systems, announced that OilQuickUSA and Volvo Construction Equipment and Services (VCES) have partnered to provide OilQuick's proven automatic coupling system on an exclusive basis to the California market.

"We are honored that VCES has chosen to partner with OilQuickUSA and we look forward to a long and successful venture. VCES provides quality equipment and exceptional service to the market they serve, precisely what we look for in dealers we do business with," states Kevin Boreen, CEO of OilQuickUSA.

OilQuick launched the world's first quick coupler system on the market in 1993. It not only has the most advanced technology for hydraulic quick couplers on the market today, it is also regarded as the safest. With the OilQuick system, you can change hydraulic attachments directly from the driver's cabs in just seconds.

"VCES prides itself on providing our customers with the most advanced equipment solutions, focusing on safety, productivity, and uptime. To that end, we have made a significant investment with OilQuickUSA. We know the time is now for automatic coupler systems, and OilQuickUSA is the clear leader in this space, both in terms of the product and their support infrastructure," states Dan McCausland of VCES.

Volvo Construction Equipment will be a full-line dealer for the OilQuick coupler system including the OQE for Excavators, the OQTR for tilt-rotators, the OQC for cranes/material handlers, the OQL for Wheel Loaders, and the OQT for forklifts. VCES will be offering factory direct sales, service, and parts support in their dealer network in California. Their rental machines will be equipped with multiple attachment options.

Jason Johnson, OilQuickUSA Director of Sales, states, "We are very excited about the partnership with VCES – their sales, service, and support is a great fit! Combined with our excellent engineering and manufacturing capabilities, OilQuick will be the best supported attachment in the CA market."

It is a natural partnership for OilQuickUSA and VCES, with their premium construction equipment and our coupler system that works with any attachment, it is now easier than ever to switch with ease from the cab. Always have the right attachment for the job.

OilQuickUSA is a branch of Exodus Machines, LLC, and the United States distributor for OilQuick. Volvo Construction Equipment and Services a leading international distributor of Volvo premium construction equipment and Sennebogen material handlers.
